Common-Bryan and the "Money Trust."

New Tork, Feb. 4.—There are, of course, few persons—and, least of all, those who are in any way attentive observers of manufact conditions and fautumentions in imarket prices—who were under any illustions that the furious selling of two particular stocks that fook place in the security market list week represented a lundation of holdings thereof by genuine investors, even if the decline was undoubtedly sufficient to chain the execution of a considerable minuter of stop loss orders by speculators for the rise. What occurred was soily another violent onslaught against the Union Pacific and United States Steel common starce of the same soil stackly, and carried on by the same people who were a actively engaged last summer in an attempt to week values and who were out out the same people who were output programmed and streaming at rememdously accessful in creating a tremendously oversoid market.

Pacific Coast.

Now, there is no denying that from a speculative point of view the situation is not as "good" as it was, any, six weeks ago, but that is no reason why the situation should be made any worse than it is. Every one in his senses knows that the case of the St. Paul Railroud that has been referred to is absolutely unrelated to that of any other cities and in the same of the st. Paul Railroud that has been referred to in absolutely unrelated to that of any other cities hands that has sont the road directly and indirectly about R.00,000, and the company must undoubtedly spend more money in the future than it has in the past in keeping up its lines; but the financial strength of the property is such that the coming year will have to be one of unprecedented financial depression to imperit the continuance of the current dividend upon its centmon stuck. It is true that the Western railroads continue to report decreases in earnings, but this is not true, generally speaking, of the railroads of the Northwest and of the East and South, as witness last week's excellent reports of the Northwest and of the East and Fennsylvania, the Reading, the New Haven, and the New York Central.
